Where are you, old moon of Ken - At dawn-ing fond hopes come to tuck - y? cheer me, There's some - bod - y lone-some and blue, But twi - light bring sor - rows a - new, With noth - ing, it And night finds me seems, but mem - 'ries and dreams, Wait - ing to whis - per to you: Day is here, the world sad and drear, Send - ing this mes - sage to you: done and here am I, a - lone, and you know why, Roll a - long, roll a - long, Ken-tuck-y moon.
Shed a ray of sil - v'ry light on the one I love to - night, Roll a - long, roll a - long, Ken-tuck - y moon. You were watch-ing on high as we whis - pered "good - bye," 'Twas a love dream that end - ed too soon. But wher - ev - er you may be, go bring her back to me, Roll a - long, roll a - long, Ken-tuck - y moon.
Oh de - lay-ee-oh, oh lay ee oh, oh - lay - ee.
